To kick off the spirit week a Saturday night dance was held in honor of our football players. The fabulous band, Blitz played till 11.

Monday, K.P. students and teachers showed up in their raunchiest clothes.

GRUB DAY

CLASS COLOR DAY

Each class dressed in the color that was assigned to them. Seniors- Brown, Juniors- Red, Sophomores- Yellow, Freshmen- White and Faculty-Green. The Junior Class won the contest.

WE'VE GOT THE SPIRIT

The girls received a name tag when they entered the school building. If a girl speaks to a boy she forfeits the tag to the boy. The winner was Tony Maccione, who collected the most tags.

TAG DAY

HAT DAY

Thursday, students and teachers were wearing strange hats of every kind: From a sheik's turben to a pile of different hats on one head. The winners were Mark Healey, Ed Cataldo, Larry LaPointe, Linda MaCrakon, Laura Hanlon, and Tom Lang.

Friday marked the conclusion of spirit week: Green & Gold Day, where everyone wore school colors. The pep rally was a complete success, and to the Queen and her court it was the moment to be remembered.

Class of 78

In September of '75 the doors of King Philip High opened wide to one of the greatest classes to ever pass through its doors - the Class of '78.

Although half of the class was at the Junior High, under the direction of our newly elected class officers, Pres.- S. Underhill, V. Pres.- M. Crawford, Treas.- M. Scholtes, Sec.- S. Elliot, the work got done. Our freshman float with the theme "We'll shoot the Rockets back to North" didn't get us first place but in the years to follow our leadership showed. With the help of our class advisor Mrs. Cindy Sussan, our spaghetti supper, "Springfling", and Semi-formal were all great successes.

Following the summer of '76 the class entered as a whole into the newly additioned high school. "After old friendships were re-united and new friendships were made", the class officers, Pres.- M. Crawford, V. Pres.- M. Scholtes, Sec.- P. Jaworski, Treas.- R. Geromini, Mrs. Sussan and the class council put forward their best effort to make our sophomore year as best as possible. The first major event of our sophomore year was our float, the theme "Stoughton Knights will show their flaws and get caught in K.P. Jaws" won us a near first place. Our sophomore year was our most profitable year. We held such events as: flea market/car wash, Chicken BBQ, gym nights, candy sales, Valentine's Day Dance, and our Semi-formal. All were great fun, and again it was time for another summer vacation.

When the school doors opened again in September things were different, we were upper classmen now and mighty proud of it. The class officers for our junior year were as follows: Pres.- M. Crawford, V. Pres.- R. Geromini, Treas.- T. Hartley, Sec.- J. Clarke. With the help of them and many others the class had a very successful year. If there was one saying that got used it was "beat the Seniors", and that's just what we did. To start off the year we participated in a few pep-ralleys. We blew the doors off the other classes with our "Juniors never stagger." Soon again it was homecoming time. Our slogan for the float was "O.A. will fight to no avail: K.P. will hang'em by the tail." Good Ol Amos won us first place. Mrs. Sussan, Mr. Besaw and Miss Hansen made fine advisors. Our pizza bakes, candy sales and pancake breakfast brought in a large sum of money with few fatalities. Our ten or so Rock-a-thon participants rocked ten hours for alot of laughs, sunburns and about one-hundred dollars. Competition night was held by student council on 1/77. It was alot of fun with races like a ball toss, sneaker race, wheel barrel race and a tug of war.

History

And of course you know which class won all but 2 (?) races! When the end of the year came rollin' in the Junior-Senior Prom "Could It Be Magic" was held at the Blue Hills Country Club on May 12, 1977, it was a great time for all. The last event of our junior yearwas our Pot-Luck Supper in which each person was asked to bring some food for admission. Music was played, joke gifts were passed out and everybody had a good time. May-was the Seniors last day of school and on June 3rd they all graduated. What a feeling it was walking down the hallway knowning that in 12 months you'd be doing the same thing. Finally our junior year ended and every junior went home for their last summer "high school" vacation.

On September 8, 1977 the doors of King Philip High opened their doors one last time for the class of '78. The officers elected to head our Senior year were: Pres.- M. Crawford, V. Pres.- R. Geromini, Treas.- T. Hartley, Sec.- J. Clarke, Mrs. Sussan, Mr. Bertiletti and Miss Hansen were our class advisors and a class council consisting of about 25 members all worked hard to make our Senior year at King Philip the best ever.

Homecoming was held on October 9th this year. This year's first place theme was "K.P. Warriors will chase the Foxes back to their borrough."

After homecoming the class got right down to business starting off with a candy sale, gym nights and suppers of all kinds.

Our Senior Superlatives, class trip, donkey basketball game and Senior Prom were highlights of the best year we have ever spent at King Philip Regional High School.

"And so the activities and events of the class of '78 are brought up to date." Soon each member of the class will go his or her own seperate way and the doors of King Philip High will close and each of us will take with us the memories and friendships that we'll remember for the rest of our lives.

Head Football Coach - Wayne Simarrian - "The 1977 King Philip Warrior football team worked very hard. What they may have lacked in game experience, they made up for with DESIRE. The success of this year's team goes beyond the won - loss record and may be best exemplified by the players' ability to give 100% at all times.

Well, that play looks good on the field, but will it work on paper? - Dave Hoyle, Captain.

Backfield Coach: T. Schmidt-In my seven years at K.P., I have found that each group has had a unique characteristic, and I feel the 1977 Fighting Warriors have shown a great desire to achieve above the skills that they possess. Gentlemen, with this quality, I can't help but feel you will succeed in your future endeavors.

Mrs. Eleanor R. Alter, a teaching institution here at K.P. since 1963, will be leaving us forever at the end of this year due to lack of intelligence in today's established bureaucracy which fails to recognize the irretrievable talents of the individual while concerning itself exclusively with dates, figures, and statistics.

As a teacher, Mrs. Alter is as knowledgable and as talented in the field of literature as any instructor who has ever stood before a class at K.P. As a person, she is kind and compassionate (though she may also be strict and demanding). For 15 yrs. she has given all of herself to her students, for to her there is nothing more important than to impart knowledge and to cultivate untapped creativity. For this she is to be praised and thanked, for the number of people she has helped to discover the true scope of their capabilities is immeasurable.

I speak for many students, both past and present, when I thank her for enriching our lives, wish her luck and many, many more fruitful years, and tell her how much she will be missed.

Thank you, Mrs. Alter.

A FEW DANCING WORDS. . .

But how can I write in December what I would like to say in June?/And the more impossible it would be for a few dancing words to describe/ The madcap, rushing, dancing years that have been my portion here-/Ever since the bright September morn in '63 when I started teaching English under Warren G. Pressley and Walter White.

What can I say that would stay fresh as dew? Why, I will greet you as I leave./Just as I always do my students at the start of every day-so, "Good Morning!" For this is truly the way/I look at my life: I clamber up the hills of day until I reach the quiet evening gate/Ever pressing on for what new promises await with the unfolding of each day. So. . .hello, all my students and fellow teachers! Isn't it a beautiful day!/I say this, too, to the Administrators--old and new. I've loved teaching here/What a privilege and a dear and infinite joy, for I relish and welcome/Exchanging my thoughts with those long, long thoughts of every girl and boy; For time, like an hour glass, pours its sands out fast--and I believe I've seen my students/ Actually grow right before me! At least I know I have immeasurably grown in their company. . ./ Because, you see, they have also been my teachers! Good morning to all I have taught and worked beside/On this glorious, sometimes roller-coaster ride in my Rm. 118! There's a bright sheen/About that room: It's touched by thoughts of youth who read and write and wonder and struggle. ../Seeking truth. So once again, Good Morning as I retire, come June, and begin a whole new day/Of my own. Gladly I came and gladly (and sadly) shall I take my way wherever the Lord prepares one for me: /But part of me will always stay in this place, for here I ran with hundreds of bright young minds the race/Of life-to strive-to test-to search-to reach-to struggle-and finally to know/That life is worth the effort and that life is good!/ Good Morning, then again I say. Have a beautiful day! I love you all!

-Eleanor Reed Alter

TO MRS. SUSSAN--WITH THANKS

I'm not sure if there are words enough in the English language to fully convey the deep feelings of thanks and appreciation we have toward Mrs. Sussan. We, the Class of '78, owe her a debt that, unfortunately, we will never be able to fully repay. We could say that she has been an exceptional advisor, but that says little--of course she has been exceptional, but she has been more than that; much, much more. It would have been impossible to have found a more enthusiastic (and, at times, thrifty) person for such an arduous, often exaspirating, job. She's always there, whether with brilliant ideas for class happenings or for raising money (of course, not every idea ended up making a bundle, but nobody can be perfect all the time). It goes without saying that we are sorry she is leaving, but we are, also, and somehow it seems fitting. At the same time, of course, we wish her the best of luck as she begins a family of her own (and she thought teaching school was hard). Still, there's something else; something more. . .

You're one of the class, Mrs. Sussan; you're a part of us, and though that may seem a dubious honor at times, you and I, and the rest of the class, know better.

King Philip has a spirit all its own . . . a spirit made unique by the many different people who fill K.P.'s halls.

We are the people who have made K.P. what it is. We are the worn floors and dusty blackboards, but we are also the smiling faces and shared laughter. We are thankful for our educations — not just from books and classrooms, but from our interactions with other people. We are sad in leaving the familiar faces, but we are eager to choose our own way of life. We know we are ready for this because we have seen through K.P. the many different ways to live. We have been taught by educators who devote their life to preparing us for adulthood.

As editors of THE CHIEFTAIN, we four have been able to look at all the diverse characteristics of K.P. We have pulled together, in this yearbook, all the factors which make King Philip an ever-changing world all its own.
